NEXUS GLOBAL

INVESTMENT PROCESS

The fund manager's approach is aimed at minimising risk and maximising returns. Risk is defined as a permanent loss of capital and derives from three principal sources: business risk, too much debt and overpaying.

Investment is made into sustainable businesses where the model, dividends and bond coupons provide a better chance to survive a downturn of financial markets and who show high profitability, durability, simplicity and competent management. Good investments are made when quality companies are purchased at attractive valuations and when these companies have a brand and excellent track record of producing high quality returns leading them to produce stable and growing dividends.
