Buying a Property Abroad

You may be thinking about buying property abroad for a variety of reasons: residency, investment or as a holiday home. Whatever the reason, you want to ensure your investment is sustainable and efficient to avoid any potential issues in the future.

As well as considering location and property type, you will also need to think about the buying process, taxation and rules and regulations that vary depending on different countries and regions. This is where we can help simplify the process, offering our knowledge and expertise so you can be confident in your investment.

How can we help you with your mortgage?

Here at Blacktower, we can assist you in the purchasing, or refinancing of property overseas in a wide range of locations. We have the expertise and knowledge to arrange the best loan for your personal circumstances, offering a tailored service that is specific to each client's situation, with the minimum and maximum loan amount being determined on a case-by-case basis but going as low as £50,000 – all subject to your overall personal financial profile and property valuation.

Whether you are just beginning your search, have found a property you wish to buy, or are wanting to carry out improvements to an existing overseas property you have already bought, we are here to equip you with the advice to make decisions that safeguard your future.
